Junior Deaconesses Trash Pick Up Community Service Project

On a recent Sunday the junior deaconesses (and one junior deacon) picked up trash along both sides of Elm Farm Road from Minnieville Road to the Prince

William Parkway in Woodbridge. Over 30 bags of litter were collected and piled up for Prince William County officials to take to the landfill.

Margith Vaz spearheaded and coordinated this community service project with the Prince William Clean Community Council. As head deaconess, she spends time each month with the girls by teaching and training them on the duties and responsibilities of being a junior deaconess. The plan is to do some type of community service or church related project each month.

Besides Margith, Alba Barrios, Bert Cush and Nora Sion provided supervision, support and helped pick up trash themselves.

When J Tinsley heard about this project, he volunteered to help because he could get credit from his school for community service hours.

Everyone involved in this project worked hard and did a great job! Thanks for a great job in helping our community look good!

Those Who Helped

Junior deaconesses - Karla Barrios, MacKenzie Cush, Veronica Mwila, Karen Sison, Emily Walker and Jordan Wilson. Junior deacon - J Tinsley.
